Understanding Grief

Grief is a universal human experience that arises from the loss of someone or something significant. It encompasses a wide range of emotions, including sadness, anger, confusion, and even relief. Understanding the nature of grief is essential for effective healing. The process of grieving can vary significantly from person to person, influenced by factors such as the type of loss, personal coping mechanisms, and cultural backgrounds.

There are several stages of grief commonly referenced, including denial, anger, bargaining, depression, and acceptance.
